Mr. D. Leckie waited on the Council and asked what action the City would take regarding the supplying of transformers to small power users.

Ald. Millie stated that the City would supply transformers to any party guaranteeing the use of $125 worth of power a year. As an alternative, the users might supply their own transformers and the City simply charge them so much per kilowatt.

Mr. J. Leathley remarked that he had discussed the question with the chief engineer at the Power House, who considered the use of small transformers very wasteful and suggested the purchase of one large central transformer.

Ald. Millie said that he had also thought of that scheme, but it would mean that the City would have to do a lot of new wiring, which would be very expensive.

The matter was then laid aside for further consideration.

A motion that the declaration of the Returning Officer regarding the recent by-laws voted upon, be accepted, was passed.

Several communications regarding minor business details were filed.

Mr. R. B. Kerr wrote asking what action the Council were going to take regarding the building of hand rails on stair-cases. It was decided to give the Building Inspector the authority to see that this item be completed in all public buildings or business places.

A letter from the Quarter Centenary Association, asking for a grant, was filed.

W. Fowler, licentiate for the city, wrote asking for an increase of salary. The letter was turned over to the Finance Committee.

Mr. W. F. Bouvette wrote regarding the widening of Pendozi Street, stating that he did not consider it fair to expropriate all the land necessary from one side of the street only. To him, it looked like a case of where "the big fish ate the little ones."

Mayor Jones remarked that he hoped there would be no difficulty in settling with the owners of the land to be acquired for the widening of the street and in arriving at a common valuation with all the owners. Otherwise the thing would have to be settled by arbitration, which might mean considerable delay. The City would have to get a separate deed from each owner, but the matter would be dealt with as expeditiously as possible.

Mr. A. E. Ashcroft, representing the C. N. R., then came before the City fathers, and stated that his company had about selected their desired water frontage, namely, Messrs. Boyce and Stirling's property on Ellis Street. The rails would come down Gaston Ave., crossing several streets, the crossing being level with the city road grades. If the road traffic warranted it, the company would put up the usual "finger-board" signs at all crossings. He was not sure, as his surveys were not yet complete, but he might find it advisable to shift Gaston Ave. fifty feet south, which would let the rails go right down the present driveway, provided the City were not against such a move.

The Mayor and aldermen all considered the idea favourably.

Mr. Ashcroft further stated that the C. N. R. depot would be on Ellis St. and "it would be an artistic and comfortable station." His appearance was more or less informal, he continued, as it would be about a month until the completion of his work, when the City would be formally approached by his Company. He thanked the Council and withdrew.

On motion, By-laws 109, 110, 111, 112, 113 and 114 were reconsidered and finally passed.

Ald. Copeland reported that he had investigated the irrigation question along Richter St. and found the property owners all opposed to the relaying of the old flume. In fact, the only ones who wanted to use the water were owners along Harvey and Eli Avenues. He thought it would be cheaper to pipe the water straight from the Vernon road to Richter St. and then continue it down in the old flume.

A lengthy discussion ensued, and it was decided to lay the matter over for another week.

Ald. Copeland considered it would be a good idea to have a man patrol Mill Creek, from Abbott St. to Ethel St., and remove all the jams forming of brushwood and other debris, as there would be very high water this season, and if all jams were not removed, the consequences might be serious.

The matter was referred to the Board of Works.

The sidewalk on the west side of Ethel St. came up for attention. Ald. Copeland said that it was now dangerous to walk on it after dark. If it were removed, the grade could be lowered and the dirt used on the road.

Mayor Jones remarked that probably a cement walk would be petitioned for by residents on the north side of Bernard Ave., from Richter to Ellis St., and if it were built, the present wooden walk could probably be used elsewhere for a while. It

BASEBALL

Billikins Defeat Cubs

Good pitching and fine support enabled the Billikins to put it over the Cubs last Thursday, the score being 20-2. The Cubs tried three different pitchers, but they failed to hold the colts, although Gammow, their second man in the box, did some pretty work, considering it was his first game this season.

Up to the end of the sixth the Cubs could not work in a single run to the Billikins' 19. The line-up was as follows:

Cubs	Pitcher	Billikins
Gammow	Derr
McDonald	Catcher	Hoy
Washburn	1st base	G. Fuller
Wilson	2nd base	C. Jones
J. Pettigrew	3rd base	F. Day
Treadgold	Short Stop	W. Fuller
Falls	Left field	E. McLennan
Trench	Centre field	Brown
Colvin	Right field	G. Scott

In the seventh inning the Cubs shoved over two runs, and that ended their share of the dividends. Derr's work in the box was great, both speed and control being good. Gammow had lots of speed and a fast break over the corner of the plate that fooled the umpire several times, who called them balls. Both pitchers fanned each other out at bat once or twice.

League Meeting

A meeting of the four league teams was held in Rattenbury & Williams' office on Friday night, and it was decided, on account of the scarcity of material, to disband one of the Commercial teams, probably the Beavers, and divide up its members among the other three teams, ensuring better and faster games and a full membership roll for each team. The amended schedule will furnish games up to the end of June, and a further schedule will not be drawn up until the Valley Lacrosse League, have had a committee meeting, as it is desired to avoid any conflict in dates for games. Here is the amended list:

May 9—Cubs v. Troopers.
May 16—Troopers v. Billikins.
May 30—Billikins v. Cubs.
June 6—Cubs v. Troopers.
June 13—Billikins v. Troopers.
June 20—Cubs v. Billikins.
June 27—Troopers v. Cubs.

Several members of the Billikins will also be members of the senior lacrosse team. The proposed re-arrangement of players will enable each of the three baseball teams to have a spare man or two, and co-operation with the lacrosse club will prevent any discrepancy arising regarding dates between the two classes of ball tossers.

Locals Are Defeated

The High School baseball team, escorted by about twenty enthusiastic fans, journeyed down to Peachland on Saturday on the boats "Clovelly" and "Lorelei." The game resulted in a victory for Peachland by 9 to 4.

The line-up was nearly the same as in previous games between these teams. C. Hicks and J. Kincaid formed the battery for the High School team up to the fourth inning, when Hicks strained his arm and W. Fuller replaced him in the box. Gammow pitched for Peachland.

The boys report a fine time, and good treatment by the officials of the game. They have not given up the idea that they can defeat the sidehill crew, and another game may be arranged soon to settle the question. The excursion returned to Kelowna at about 8.30 p.m. very hungry, but otherwise satisfied. The ice cream parlours did a great business for about half an hour.

C. P. R. OBSERVATION CARS
On European Railways

The observation car service inaugurated by the C. P. R. has become so widely known, and its recognition so well-established, that cars of the same type as those used in Canada, and made from designs submitted by the Canadian Pacific Railway, are being built under the supervision of the Austrian Government State Railways to run on the Railways in Austria and Switzerland. The cars are 74 feet in length, being the longest cars in use on any railway in Europe,
and being constructed on plans submitted by the C. P. R., their excellence is assured. Not only are the cars of C. P. R. design, but they will bear the words "Canadian Pacific" thereon, which designates their quality, the same as those in use in Canada, so that the American and Canadian travelling in the Alps will be assured of accommodation similar to what they are accustomed, and being
"Canadian Pacific," the traveller will feel as if he were at home.

Three services are being arranged:
from Zurich in Switzerland via the Arlberg route to Innsbruck, a distance of 192 miles; from Innsbruck via Salzburg to Vienna, a distance of 352 miles; from Salzburg via the Tauern Pass and the Karawanken
Ry. to Trieste on the Adriatic Sea, a distance of 257 miles. It is only a two hours' journey thence by steamer to Venice in Northern Italy.

Passengers will be allowed to travel in these cars on payment of the seat fare. A large number of the people going from the North American Continent to Europe visit the Alps and the resorts throughout the mountains, and the C. P. R. service connecting these resorts with the numerous points of interest within the Austrian Empire, and also to Trieste, whence Northern Italy can be easily reached, should appeal to every traveller.

TOM MARKS

Presents Popular Productions

The Tom Marks Company have occupied the stage at the Opera House for the past three nights, and will remain until Saturday night.

On Monday, they presented "His Irish Honour," or, "Hello! Bill," a farcical comedy, which many will remember as being played here last season by the Allen Players. "The Peacemaker," a mixture of comedy
and pathos, was the bill for Tuesday,
and last night, "Under Southern Skies" was played to a scanty audience. A matinee will be played on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 in addition to the three plays to be given tonight, Friday and Saturday, at popular prices.

The plays are of the lighter order,
and entertaining song and dance specialties between the acts serve to keep the audience continually amused.

LOST IN THE HILLS

For Sixteen Days

Last Sunday, Mr. A. Crawford, who lives on the bench east of Okanagan Mission, while looking for his cows, found a lost and nearly famished man. The unfortunate fellow was brought to town in an auto, and with good nourishing food is rapidly regaining his strength. His story is a thrilling one.

On April 19th, Charles S. Sander-left Fairview, B. C., en route to the Okanagan and Kootenay District.
An old-timer in B. C., having lived in the country since 1886, he thought little of the journey, but by some means he took the wrong trail and entered the wild country between Kettle River and the sources of Sawmill Creek. Without food, or blankets, enough to keep him warm at night, he struggled on through the snow and fallen timber in a game effort to strike some ranch or place of habitation. For twelve days he was without food and then, coming down off the snow line, he managed to kill some "fool-hens." He was about to give up, when he was discovered by Mr. Crawford.

Prov. Constable Tooth has taken charge of the man, (who hopes to secure employment here or in the Kootenay, where he has some friends, as soon as he regains his strength. Besides being in a very weak condition generally, his feet are extremely painful after his long march through the woods and canyons, and his baggage face bears eloquent testimony of his gallant fight for life.

INTERMEDIATE LACROSSE

Team To Be Organized

The lacrosse fever is spreading rapidly through the district, and the local enthusiasts expect to do some great work on the field this year. The line-up for the seniors is now practically complete, and the intermediates
are also busy organizing a classy team for the season.

There will be ample material for the two teams, if all the players at present in town remain, and will guarantee to practice faithfully three times a week.
A number of the younger seniors may be available for the line-up of the intermediates, and the two teams will be able to give each other some great workouts. The boys are using all kinds of ginger in their training, and are showing far more energy than was evinced last year at this time.

The intermediates' line-up will probably be much the same as last year's,
which put up such a fine game against the Sapperton team that visited the city last year. The boys are all pleased with the new model lacrosse-stick in use this year, and can be depended upon to do some hard shooting in the great national game.

Police Court

On Saturday a teamster was brought up in court and fined a nominal sum for driving with his wagon
over the sidewalks where no crossing existed. As it was the first case of the kind, he was let off lightly, but it is to be hoped that this case will serve as a warning to other careless drivers, who show little respect for either the sidewalks or shade trees on street corners.

On Monday morning five Italians were up before the bench on a charge of housebreaking. They had entered a vacant house, by breaking in a door, and were evidently prepared to camp there for some time. When searched by Chief Sutherland, two revolvers and fifty rounds of ammunition were found on the bunch, and they were also well supplied with cash. The weapons were confiscated, and the quintette paid in fines amounting in all to $25.00. So their little outing proved rather expensive.

The silver cup offered by the Indoor Rifle Range for the best monthly average of ten cards, 7 shots each, shot under military conditions, was won last night by Mr. G. C. Rose with an average of 33.3 out of a possible 35. He was closely followed by Mr. W. Harwey, who won it twice previously, with 32.6. It takes three wins to secure the cup "for keeps."

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATOR

VOL.

The Machine By Which All Others Are Judged

For more than thirty years the De Laval cream separator has been acknowledged as the World's Standard.

You may hear it said of some separator that "It's as good as a De Laval;" or if some competing salesman wants to make his argument particularly strong, he'll say "It's better than a De Laval."

The concern with a cheaply and poorly constructed machine says "Just as good as a De Laval and costs less."

But everywhere the De Laval is recognized by experienced creamerymen and dairymen and even by makers of would-be competing machines as the World's Standard.

The cream separator is more frequently used than any other machine on the farm, and for that reason, if for no other, only the very best should be purchased, and that's the De Laval.

THE TWO ROSETTES.

And the Falsehood That the Maker Told About Them.

By AGNES G. BROGAN.
(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

As I walked up the garden path between the stiff rows of flaming hollyhocks I saw Gertrude's grandfather sitting on the veranda. He greeted me with his delightful air of old time gallantry, and I changed my purpose of joining the gay throng in the old fashioned drawing room and dropped into a chair at his side. I was still wearing my quaint little automobile bonnet, and my face flushed with pleasure at the admiring light in his blue old eyes, but I was soon to learn that it was not my face or my bonnet which had evoked his approval, but an awakened memory from the long ago.

And then the old soldier told this simple story:

The girl who had worn the flower wreathed bonnet must have been beautiful indeed, with her rosy cheeks and bright dark eyes and the black curls, which bobbed coquettishly just above the two rosettes which were placed upon either side of the bonnet. They were fashioned of forgetmenots—these rosettes—with a rosebud center in each, and when her youthful lover bade her farewell as he went to answer his country's call it was the forgetment rosette which he begged as a keepsake to carry away to war.

"When I look upon it I shall seem to see your face," he said. And the girl clung to him.

"Bring it safely back to me," she besought him. "I shall always be waiting for you."

It was this promise which gave him courage through all the privation and unpeppable horror of war. Far away in a peaceful little village the one girl would always be waiting hopefully for his return and when he could look into her eyes again.

Well, he was wounded at last and lay suffering upon the battlefield, trying to endure silently the racking pain until the doctor and nurses might come to his relief.

He wondered dully if they would be in time, and then the one girl's face seemed suddenly to appear before him, laughing from the depths of her bonnet. She had been gay and happy always, he remembered. Would it grieve her now to learn that he would never come back. Yet she must know.

He aroused himself with a great effort and turned blindly toward a man who lay half reclining upon the ground.

"There's a little keepsake in my pocket," he said haltingly, "and if I should be up with me I'd like you to send it to a girl in Hampton town—with a message."

The other young man leaned forward and with swift and gentle fingers drew forth the crumpled knot of forgetmenots. He stared at it unbelievably for a moment and then laughed. It was not a pleasant laugh to hear. A nurse working near by looked up, startled at the sound, and then waited, listening.

"See here," the man said presently "A girl in Hampton gave you this at parting—promised to be faithful and true, waiting for you at the end, eh? You see, I happen to know all about it, for there were two true lover knots upon that bonnet of hers, and I guess I can match you."

With an exclamation he threw a second rosette upon the ground, where the inconspicuous bits of blue and pink so exactly alike lay between them.

The wounded lad grew white to the lips. "You mean that she—" he whispered. Then the little nurse approached. With steady gray eyes she regarded the injured man and sank upon her knees before the one whose strength was fast falling.

"Well," she asked in a crisp, businesslike manner, "what can I do for you?"

"The best thing you can do now, nurse," he whispered hopelessly, "is just to let me die."

"Nonsense!" the girl replied. "Would you surrender so easily, general?" She smiled as she bestowed the name upon him and was already at work with her bandages. Her gaze fell apparently for the first time upon the rosettes, and she gave a start of surprise.

"Why, I declare," she said—"to think that I should find in this dreadful place pieces of my own handiwork!"

"Your work?" cried the man who had tossed them there.

"I will tell you about it," she explained, "if you promise not to speak one word." She looked anxiously down at the pale face beneath her own and then flashed a warning glance at the man who had spoken.

"I have often seen you both in Hampton," she said, "the general here as he went to and fro each day, and you, Mr. Merrill, when you visited in town. My aunt keeps the little millinery store at the crossroads, so I am also acquainted with your sweethearts. I am not sure they would have been pleased, however, had they known that I duplicated the rosettes upon their bonnets. It was almost the last work I did before volunteering as a nurse. If I ever have a sweetheart," she added, "I hope that he will not be so ready to doubt me. And now," she asked of her patient, "are you more comfortable?"

His eyes were shining. "Yes," he answered, "thanks to you."

And as they bore him away the nurse smilingly slipped the rosette back into the blue coat pocket. The other man rather shamefacedly replaced his own.

"Guess I'm about ready to fight again," he said.

"You soon will be," she replied, bending over him.

As she passed through the rows of cot-beds in the rudely constructed hospital a few days afterward a weak voice called to her:

"Little milliner," it said, "would you write a letter for me to the girl at Hampton?"

She turned quickly. "Yes, general," she answered in her brisk way.

The sick man watched eagerly for her coming each day, and the steady light of her clear gray eyes seemed to calm and soothe as she bent over the cot with a cheering word.

"I am discharged, little milliner," he said one morning. "It is to be home—on a furlough."

The nurse laughed unsteadily. "And you will see the face in the bonnet?" she said.

He left the place one moonlit evening and turned to look back at the slight figure of the nurse framed in the doorway. Her face gleamed with a white radiance beneath its muslin cap.

The picture remained with him throughout the joyous welcome which followed his arrival at home. Ellen was there to meet him. She had grown even lovelier, he thought, but as he lingered on idly at her side he was conscious of a growing disappointment in the girl he had loved.

He reproached himself at the realization that he was eager to be away, then squared his shoulders and drew a long free breath.

"I am going back," he told her. "I must be in the midst of this fight."

He prepared for departure in a fever of impatience, and then at the last moment came the glad news, heralded from tongue to tongue, that the war was ended.

The young soldier listened dazedly to the rejoicing of his companions, and as the train which was to bear him away clanged noisily into the station he swung himself on to the platform and waved a goodbye.

He must find the little gray eyed nurse. He must see her just once more. As he ascended the hill leading up to the camp hospital all was bustle and confusion, and at last, with a great sigh of relief, he espied a white clad figure coming alone down the pathway.

"Oh, little milliner," he cried, "I feared that you had gone!"

She drew back, startled at the sound of his voice, then smiled. "Do you not know that the war is over, general," she asked, "and our work here is finished?"

"I knew," he answered, "but I had to see you again, if only to say good by."

The gray eyes regarded him seriously. "And the face in the bonnet?" she questioned.

"I have given my word," he said sadly. "I must return to her."

Then the nurse motioned him to a seat at her side. "I have a confession to make," she began. "Remember that 'all is fair in love and war,' so when I found you and Robert Merrill side by side upon the battlefield—you fatally wounded, as I supposed—well, I told a lie about the two rosettes, hoping to make it easier for you to die, easier for him to live. The bits of forgetment were fashioned by my hands. It is true, but both were sewed upon Ellen Richmond's bonnet."

She paused. "Will it grieve you now to learn that Robert Merrill hastened back to marry her the moment that peace was declared?"

But it was certainly not grief that shone from the young man's eyes as he leaned toward her.

"It is you I want, little nurse," he begged. "Will you go home with me?"

She sat white and smiling in the golden light of the setting sun, and then—the old soldier threw back his white head as though he were listening to marching music.

"Did she marry him?" I insisted.

His laughter rang out like that of a boy. "You shall see," he answered and raised his voice to call "Mother!"

A little old lady who had been sitting at the farther end of the lawn arose in answer and came toward us. Her gray eyes shone unfaded through the fifty years.

"Yes, general," she said.

GLENMORE NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mr. C. MacLeay is expected this week.

Mr. Hume has just finished planting 1,500 trees.

Mr. Tuckey will begin his house this week.

Mr. McDougall will build a barn at once.

Mr. Leslie, from Scotland, has bought a ranch beside Mr. McDougall.

A few are putting their tomatoes in around here, but the most are afraid to venture yet.

It is said that the trees never blossomed out as well as this year, so we may look for a fine yield.

Mr. Buck has bought a residence in the city, and has left his ranch in charge of Mr. Perry, Jr.

Men have been putting the irrigation pipes in shape, and the water will probably be turned on this week.

Mr. Jamieson was in the Valley two or three days last week, looking over his ranch. He is undecided whether to move here this year or not.

The new settlers on the north slope of Elworthy Mountain have very fine ranches. There is very little clay in the soil, and they are well pleased.

As a result of the discovery of copper-gold ore while excavating for a sewer on Herald Street in the business area of Victoria, Moile, a prospector, has staked the city street as a mineral claim.

The Penticton Council have struck the tax rate for the present year at 57½ mills. This is one-half mill less than last year, despite the fact that provision will have to be made for interest and sinking fund on water-works and electric light debentures to the extent of $26,000.

The large British Columbia fishing companies contemplate a great extension in their plants in Northern British Columbia waters this year. It is understood that the B. C. Fisheries, Ltd., will expand in developing its fisheries there a quarter of a million dollars. The oil works at Skidegate recently purchased by the company are being improved and enlarged and a large force of men are clearing sites for a new plant. The B. C. Fisheries has also acquired some 200 acres of crown grant land in Alford Bay, where a cannery, salting plant and fish meal works will be erected. The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. has its cold storage plant near Prince Rupert well under way. This plant will have capacity for 1,400,000 pounds of fish, and will have numerous branches for fish curing and for making fertilizer of fish not edible.

The May "Rod and Gun"

Every sportsman interested in the welfare of Canada's fish and game resources should read the May number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., which contains the first chapter of the Final Report of Mr. Kelly Evans of the Ontario Game and Fisheries Commission. Mr. Evans has spent two years in the preparation of this report and the information contained therein, and the recommendations which Mr. Evans makes as to a broader policy of administration should be read by every sportsman. "An Ideal Canadian Holiday" will appeal to those who already have visions of a summer outing. Trap-shooters will find their interests particularly well looked after in this month's issue, which contains in addition to the usual department news and scores a specially illustrated article by "Canuck" on the Easter Inter-Club Shoots between Montreal and St. Hubert clubs.

Warning

Any person or persons removing or defacing any post, peg or cairn planted or erected within the corporate limits of the City of Kelowna by a duly authorized British Columbia Land Surveyor will be prosecuted under Section 532 of the Criminal Code of Canada.

Mr. J. Collett returned last Monday

Rev. A. W. McLeod, of Okanagan

Another fine programme will be presented on Friday and Saturday at Dreamland, including two screaming farce comedies, another Pathe Weekly and an exceptional drama entitled,
"Capital versus Labour." The latter is certainly a good one.

In the local police court last month,
twenty-six convictions were recorded,
and the total amount of fines imposed was $156.00. The majority of cases were simply those of 'drunk and disorderly' individuals, but the number of these on some days was sufficient to keep the police very busy.

There has been a considerable increase of late in the number of visitors
of the 'Weary Willie' type and summary justice is necessary in such cases if this class is to be excluded. The efficiency of our present police will not encourage the 'waps' to regard Kelowna as a restful rendezvous.

Nothing like enterprise. The management of Dreamland will exhibit a series of twenty lantern slides in connection with the Titanic disaster. The pictures are made from Press Association photos and will arrive from New York about Tuesday night. This series should prove interesting and instructive to both old and young.

The Toronto Conservatory of Music
have decided to establish a Local Examination Centre in the Okanagan Valley. Examination in all branches of musical art will be held yearly.
Any information concerning these examinations may be obtained from Mr.
J. E. Watson, Mus. Bac., Vernon, B.C.

Prov. Constable Tooth informs us that there are about thirty-five automobiles in the city and nearby district.
The increase has been very marked during the past month, and there will evidently be a great many more "buzz-wagons" in operation before the summer is over. The cars range all the way from the two-cylinder runabout to the modern six-cylinder, seven passenger touring car, and the powerful motor truck. As the Provincial law regarding excessive speeding will be strictly enforced hereafter, the joy-riders will have to keep their weather-eye open.

Among those arriving from the Coast
on Sunday were, Messrs. Howard Paul, Frank Carlyle, G. McLean and G. Speers. The first two are well known to all the lacrosse fans in the city, and probably the two latter will also, when this season of the game is completed. Carlyle, since his arrival, has been attacked by the measles,
which respects no one, and is now lying in duance vile in the City Hospital. The other boys have all been out at the evening workouts of the team, which will this year make a hard attempt to annex the Valley championship. With material now on hand, the chances look very good.

Mr. G. Goldsmith left town on Saturday for Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Bulman returned

Mr. Percy Sawtell, who was supposed to have been killed on a Calgary race track about two weeks ago, astonished his friends here by appearing in the flesh last Saturday. His injuries consisted of a broken shoulder and a number of bruises. Percy is worth a dozen dead men yet.

On Monday, May 13th, Mr. Harris, Foul Brood Inspector for the Okanagan Valley, will give a demonstration lecture on the culture and care of Bees, at Mr. W. T. Ashbridge's apirary, Glenn Avenue, at 2.30 p.m.
There will be no evening lecture as advertised last week.

Last week's prizes at the Indoor Rifle Range were won by W. Harvey, W. Hewlett and J. N. Cameron, in the order named. Low prize was won by W. Harvey also. The monthly com-

style of shooting, is bringing out some good shooting, and promises a close finish by Wednesday night.

CITY COUNCIL

C.N.R. Engineer Interviews Council

might suit the situation mentioned by Ald. Copeland.

Ald. Copeland reported that Mr. R. H. Parkinson had surveyed and taken the levels of the gravel pit and found it could be drained. He also asked that some action be taken with regard to the increase of noxious weeds, especially dandelions. They were spreading at a fearful rate and ruining all the city lawns.

The Council considered that it would be a good idea to insert a notice in the local press asking all property owners to try and destroy the pest. The press and the public should both get interested and do all in their power to combat these noxious weeds, which really caused a lot of damage.

A motion was passed to pay the remaining sum of $1,686.00 due on the nuisance ground.

Ald. Blackwood reported that the nuisance ground was in very bad shape, the refuse of all kinds being uncovered and scattered around. The Health Committee were asked to deal with the matter.

The condition of the City Cemetery also came in for some criticism by Ald. Milie, and the Mayor stated that they would make another visit out there shortly, and instruct the caretaker to make a general clean up of the tree branches, etc., lying about. He also believed that the City should secure some more land as soon as possible for cemetery purposes, before all the adjoining property was subdivided and raised in price.

The excessive speed of autos came in for another discussion, and a motion was passed instructing the police to enforce the Provincial Act regarding automobiles.

Ald. Blackwood stated that the A. & T. Association would like to meet the Council soon and decide on the site for the new Exhibition building.

The Council all agreed to hold their next meeting on Friday, May 10th, at 8 p.m., and to meet the A.

& T. Committee after the conclusion of the regular business. The Council then adjourned.

Kelowna Defeats Summerland

By the score of 4-2, the local football kickers defeated an eleven from Summerland last Saturday. The visitors came up in the "Maud Moore," a rather wobbly looking craft to have such a large passenger list.

The Summerland boys wore red sweaters, and the locals were arrayed in the well-known zebra striped black and yellow colour scheme.

The game commenced at about 4.45 p.m. Play was fairly even in the first half, the first goal being scored by Kelowna, and the second by the visitors. The ground, best described as "rotten," was responsible for some awful mix-ups, and it is remarkable that so many good attempts were made, under the circumstances.

The second half found the locals working hard, while Jenkins, the Kelowna goal, had little to do. Some good combination work resulted in several scores in succession. The six o'clock whistle blew, but the players kept hard at it, and by hard work at the finish, the home boys hung up the double score.

The result will improve Kelowna's standing in the Valley League, and they will endeavour to keep up the good work in coming matches.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION

Weekly Practice

Rapid changes of light last Thursday, caused by heavy clouds passing over the sun, made shooting conditions very trying for the marksmen, whose scores were all materially affected, none of them reaching the 90's. Mr. W. McCubbin shot for the first time on the local range and acquitted himself very well, considering the difficulties encountered and the fact that he used an ordinary rack Mark II Ross with open sights.
